READING WITH YOUR BABY

Why read to your baby?

A 3 month old can distinguish the shapes of words and letters giving them pre-reading skills which can make learning to read easier later on. Reading stories also stimulates your baby's imagination and helps her learn about the world around her. It's a great time for you to bond with your baby and share time together too.

Getting Started

Make a routine and try to share at least one book every day. Find a quiet space so your baby can hear your voice.

What to Choose

- Board books made of laminated cardboard are easier for baby to turn pages
- Read familiar books and new books to extend the words they recognise
- Babies enjoy books that have good rhyme, rhythm and repetition.
- Books with bright colours
- Books with different textures
- Books with babies and faces

They're neither up nor down
