

Audrey Emery

Listen to your inner voice and follow your passion

Audrey is a dedicated artist who has spent over 40 years inspiring young minds through her weekly children's art classes. While at Art School, she discovered purpose in working with students to explore their creativity.

Audrey's self-employed career flourished as she initiated and coordinated community art projects, leaving a legacy of murals in schools. Her first exhibition at Pepper Street Arts Centre showcased her spiritually rooted art. Audrey pursued an Honors Degree in printmaking, with her passion extending globally, speaking at overseas conferences. Residing in Campbelltown since 1971, Audrey draws inspiration from the natural environment and workshops with children. She has sparked creativity in thousands of children, fostering joy and wonder in their artistic achievements.

Audrey's reflections emphasise the importance of following your own inner voice and she encourages other creatives to build connections to support creative growth.

My art has been my calling

To see the full stories visit: www.campbelltown.sa.gov.au/iwd